EXT./INT. DOCK - NIGHT

Waves slap the pilings. A lantern swings over the water.

ANGLE ON SARAH

SARAH
(barely audible, turning away from the window toward the door)
We should go before the tide turns.

FADE OUT:

The lantern light crosses the water again (1), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (2), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (3), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (4), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (5), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (6), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (7), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (8), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (9), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (10), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (11), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (12), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (13), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (14), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (15), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (16), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (17), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (18), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (19), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (20), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (21), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (22), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (23), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (24), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (25), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (26), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (27), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (28), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (29), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (30), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (31), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (32), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (33), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (34), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (35), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (36), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (37), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (38), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (39), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (40), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (41), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (42), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (43), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (44), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (45), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (46), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (47), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (48), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (49), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (50), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (51), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (52), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (53), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (54), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (55), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (56), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (57), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (58), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (59), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.

The lantern light crosses the water again (60), and the dock creaks under the weight of the tide.